
Contents

An interview with Robert Jackson, 143

The myth of modern logic, 150

George Englebretsen

A guide to the history of logic

They've got it in for me, 159

H. P. Rickman

Conspiracies abound in modern life. Do we take them seriously enough?

The Temple of Irony, 165

Geoffrey Scarre

A philosophical story

Egotism and altruism, 173

Albert van Eyken

Is altruism essentially counter-evolutionary?

An evaluation of the Lipman Project in an English comprehensive school, 178

David Nicol

Who am I?, 186

Adam Morton

Philosophy in Hong Kong, 192

Laurence Goldstein

Vice, corruption, drugs, depravity, sweated labour. But that's enough about Birmingham. How is philosophy doing in Hong Kong?

Undergraduate Essay Competition: the two winning essays, 198

Klepto, 198

S. P. Doran

Russell refuted, 202

Martin Horan

Educational values, not friendship, are preconditions of philosophy, 205

Felicity Fletcher-Campbell

A reply to John Wilson

In defence of welfare rights, 207

Tim Miles

A reply to Flew

Puzzles and posers, 209

Letters, 210

Book review, 211

Editor's booknotes and books received, 212

Cogito Conference Report: teaching 'A' level philosophy, 214

Philosophy news, 216

Title-page and contents, Volume 4, 217