

THE HARVARD REVIEW OF PHILOSOPHY

Christine M. Korsgaard and Ronald Dworkin remember John Rawls

Page 4

Philippa Foot discusses the virtues and the development of her moral theory

Page 32

VOLUME XI | SPRING 2003

REMEMBRANCES

John Rawls 4
By Christine M. Korsgaard

John Rawls 7
By Ronald Dworkin

WITTGENSTEIN

What Does the Wittgensteinian
Inexpressible Express? 9
By Jaakko Hintikka

ONTOLOGY

Existential Phenomenology and the Brave New World of The Matrix 18
By Hubert Dreyfus

INTERVIEW

The Grammar of Goodness 32
An interview with Philippa Foot

PHILOSOPHY OF SCIENCE

The Deep and Suggestive Principles of Leibnizian Philosophy 45
By Julian Barbour

Mysteries of Self-Locating Belief and Anthropic Reasoning 59
By Nick Bostrom

PHILOSOPHY OF RELIGION

The Incoherence of Christian Theism 74
By Edwin Curley

LOGIC

Probability, Practical Reasoning, and Conditional Statements of Intent 101
By Dale Jacquette

BOOK REVIEW

Stanley Cavell's Must We Mean What We Say? 114
A Review by Anthony Coleman

Credits: The cover portrait of John Rawls was painted and provided by Margaret Rawls, and the above photograph of him was taken from the program to his memorial service. The above photograph of Philippa Foot was provided by Philippa Foot.