

Process Studies

37.1 (Spring/Summer 2008)

Contents

Articles

- 7 ROBERT C. NEVILLE, A Letter of Grateful and Affectionate Response to David Ray Griffin's Whitehead's Radically Different Postmodern Philosophy: An Argument for Its Contemporary Relevance
- 39 ANDREW C. BLUME, Towards a Process Sacramental Ecclesiology
- 55 J.R. HUSTWIT, Is Ricoeur a Process Philosopher? Interpretation and Becoming
- 73 HIHEON KIM, Minjung Messiah and Process Panentheism

Discussion

- 92 DAVID HAUGEN and BRYANT KEELING, Hartshorne's Process Theism and Big Bang Cosmology Revisited: Reply to Walker

Special Focus Section: Process and Evangelical Theologies

- 104 JOHN CULP, Is Mutual Transformation Possible? The Dialogue between Process and Evangelical Theologies
- 114 DONNA BOWMAN, Authority and Openness: Emulating Barth in Evangelical and Process Theology
- 128 JOHN CULP, Another Participant in the Discussion: Who and Why
- 145 SAMUEL M. POWELL, The World's Participation in God's Trinitarian Life
- 166 PHILIP CLAYTON, Open Panentheism and Creatio ex nihilo

Reviews

Abstracts

Process Studies is indexed in The Philosopher's Index, Catholic Periodical and Literature Index, and Religious and Theological Abstracts