

Business Ethics

THE MAGAZINE OF SOCIALLY RESPONSIBLE BUSINESS

SEPTEMBER/OCTOBER 1995

VOL. 9, NO. 5

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW

24 U.S. Labor Secretary Robert Reich

President Clinton's confidante and ace cabinet member defends raising the minimum wage, lambasts corporate welfare, and laments his lack of family time.

OPINION

6 Letters

John Entine takes Business Ethics to task; Caux Principles are wrong-headed; H.B. Fuller should fess up.

8 Musings: Marjorie Kelly

Parable of the shoe salesman: Class favoritism is built into the system.

10 Books: Neal Lipschutz

When Corporations Rule the World is blood-boiling fare for free marketers.

70 Oxymoron: Richard Barclay

Want me to hire the poor?
Save me from deadbeats.

NEWS, TRENDS & FEATURES

14 Trend Watch

- ▶ Deja Shoes skids out of business.
- ▶ A Tanqueray twist to AIDS research.
- ▶ Will the Dead's foundation get by?
- ▶ Prodigy fights back over free speech.
- ▶ Legal: Can we bring stun guns to work?
- ▶ Shorts: The Body Shop audit update.

20 New Age Hooley?

Traditional union ways continue to clash with new-age thinking at Whole Foods.

22 Ethical Spying

You don't need to bend rules or activate 007 to learn others' secrets.

38 Meet Your Next Employee

Cynical and uncommitted? Don't believe it. The GenX bunch is devoted to socially responsible business.

33 Profile: Felice Schwartz

She has quietly changed the status of women in corporate America.

INVESTING

47 Kodak's Executive Pay Plan

CEO George Fisher agreed to have 20 percent of his pay based on social factors. Now, about those other 899 managers that are to follow suit. . .

48 Fund Watch:

This new fund asks that investors give 50 percent or more of their returns to charities. Also, our chart of 20 screened funds and BEGFA.

MANAGEMENT

28 Mutually Uncommitted

Trust between employee and employer is nearly extinct. How can we revive it, and why should we care?

56 Employee Ownership Plans

United Airlines' struggle to put employees in the ownership seat; making ESOPs work; spotting a lemon.

66 Working Ideas:

Tax deductible, environmentally savvy benefits; corporate theater; recycling the unrecyclable; using the dole to fund payroll.

50 What Would You Do?

Ed likes his job but is crumbling under his boss' abuse. Dare he tell the company's president?

"Eleven percent of working families are earning under the poverty line. The direction we are heading should be troubling every business leader in America." P. 24

"You can't keep anything secret. Ultimately, the best protection is to run faster than the competition." P. 22

"Imagine trying to size up an adult who has always been on welfare and has never had a job." P. 70

COVER PHOTOGRAPH BY LORI EANES.