

BALKAN JOURNAL OF PHILOSOPHY

---

Vol. 9, Issue 1, 2017

The issue is sponsored by the Bulgarian National Science Fund, competition “Bulgarian Scientific Periodicals – 2016”, project No. DNP 05/31 from 21 Dec. 2016

CONTENTS

Special issue devoted to the topic of “Explanation and understanding across the sciences, humanities, and arts”

Note from the Editorial Board / 3

Articles

Invited paper

World-involving Scientific Understanding / 5

Stathis Psillos

Invited paper

Explanation, Multiple Perspectives, and Understanding / 19

Melinda Bonnie Fagan

Invited paper

Is Understanding Factive? Unificationism and the History of Science / 35

Sorin Bangu

On Some Non-trivial Implications of the View that Good Explanations Increase Our Understanding of Explained Phenomena / 45

Lilia Gurova

On Understanding Through Agent-based Models / 53

Richard David-Rus

Causation and Explanation in Phenotype Research / 63

Özlem Yılmaz

The Principle of Common Cause and its Advantages and Limitations in Screening the Correlated Events off / 71

Joby Varghese

Interview

How Does Philosophy of Science Make a Difference in the World We Live In? A Conversation with Stephan Hartmann, Stathis Psillos, and Roman Frigg / 71

Book review

A Possible Way of Relaunching Philosophical Creation in Culture and Public Life
[A Review of Andrei Marga, Explorări în prezent (Exploring in the Present), Cluj-Napoca, Eikon Publishing House, 2014, pp. 404] / 83
Marțian Iovan

Information for contributors