

FRIENDSHIP—AROUND MICHAEL H. MITIAS' FRIENDSHIP:
A CENTRAL MORAL VALUE

Editorial — Friendship—Around Michael H. Mitias' Friendship : A Central Moral Value	5
Necip Fikri Alican — Angelique: An Angel in Distress, Morality in Crisis	9
Ben Mulvey — Can Humans and Robots Be Friends?	49
Ruth Abbey — Continuing Questions about Friendship as a Central Moral Value	65
Manjulika Ghosh — A Portrait of Friendship	81
Martha C. Beck — Plato's Dialogues: Creating Friendship Bonds for 2400 Years	99

IDEALS, UNIVERSAL VALUES, DIALOGUE

Sergei Nizhnikov — Striving to Moral Policy	119
Iryna V. Stepanenko — Personal Axiological Competence as a Component of Society's Values Capital: The Call for Higher Education in the Globalized World	133
Elena Tashlinskaya — Professional Culture and Professional Ethics: A View from Russia	149
Daniel O. Adekeye — The Hegelian Phenomenological Exposition of the Problem of Social Identity: A Theoretical Framework for Managing Difference in Multi-Ethnic Societies	159
Herbert Pietschmann, Hisaki Hashi — Natural Philosophy and Natural Science: Tangent and Emergence—between Conflicting Poles in the Interdisciplinary Discourse. A Dialogue on the Epistemology of Quantum Physics	177
Shoshana Ronen — Heschel's Disciples on Jewish-Christian Dialogue and Pope John Paul II	201