

contents

Preface

Paul Majkut page i

Introduction

Chris Nagel page iii

If Journalists were Vedantins. . .

Bina Guptapage 1

The Selflessness of Transcendental Deception

Paul Majkutpage 9

Dissemblance, Power and the Special Case of Live Television Coverage

Dennis E. Skoczpage 20

A Phenomenological Investigation of Aspects of Advertising

Carolyn Cusickpage 25

Sartre on the Gaze and Surveillance Devices

Beata Stawarskapage 29

The Question Concerning Virtual Community

David Koukalpage 33

Depth of Field and the Phenomenology of Global Events

Stephen Crockerpage 38

Abjection, Film, Politics:

Race, Gender, Class and Nation in Neil Jordan's The Crying Game

Tina Chanter and Athena Colmanpage 44

The Image in Film

Dorothea E. Olkowskipage 51

Digital Ethnography: Multimedia in Qualitative Analysis

Kenneth Libermanpage 63

Aesthetics of New Media

Krystyna Wilkoszewskapage 68

Augmented Reality, Augmented Perception:

A Phenomenological Approach to Interface Culture

Janez Strehovecpage 73

Hermeneutics and Nihilism

in a World of Generalized Communication

Marc Van den Bosschepage 79