

Proceedings of the 35th Annual Heidegger Conference
Fordham University: 11-13 May 2001

Table of Contents

Preface: Martin Heidegger, Grußwort an die Teilnehmer des zehnten Colloquiums vom 14-16 Mai 1976 in Chicago — GA 16 (Frankfurt am Main: Klostermann, 2000): 747-8 i

Richard Polt, Potentiality, Power and Sway: From Aristotelian to Modern to Heideggerian Physics? 1

Patrick A. Heelan, “Heidegger’s Children and Carnap’s Children”: Report on Trish Glazebrook’s Heidegger’s Philosophy of Science 15

Theodore Kisiel, A Supratheoretical Hermeneutical Preprotoscientific Perusal of Trish Glazebrook’s Heidegger’s Philosophy of Science 27

James R. Watson, Non-Local Reality “in” the Region of Heidegger’s Characterization of Modern Natural Science 43

Gary Shapiro, Theory at the Theatre: Heidegger, Heisenberg, and Copenhagen 55

Don Ihde, Was Heidegger Prescient Concerning Technoscience? 64

Edgar C. Boedeker, Jr., The Originariness of Presence-at-hand 81

Ute Guzzoni, Überlegungen zum philosophischen Denken heute: Wissenschaft und Technik und ihr Anderes 92

Holger Schmid, Logos and the Essence of Technology 101

Thomas Sheehan, Eleven Theses on Heidegger and Technology 115

Michael Zimmerman, Heidegger’s Phenomenology and Contemporary Environmentalism 123

Dennis Skocz, Machination, Science, and Technology 139

Véronique Fóti, Imaging the Invisible: Heidegger’s Meditation 150

Rex Gilliland, The Destiny of Technology: Modern Science and Human Freedom in the Later Heidegger 166

Appendix

Timothy M. Yetman, Negotiating Das-Ge-stell: Deweyan Science and Technotopic Experience 178

Todd Lavin, The Strangeness of Man and the Question of Technology 186