

Table of Contents

The Given and a Proximity to Art: Heidegger’s Early Dialectical Conception of Phenomenology, Dan Dahlstrom 1

Becoming Hermeneutical: How The Young Heidegger Prepared For Thinking Robert C. Scharff..... 15

Heidegger and the Hermeneutic of Destruktion, Sean D. Kirkland 31

Das Ge-Stell: What does it mean? What is its source? Dana S. Belu, Patricia Glazebrook, Richard Polt, Tom Sheehan 52

The Wind of Thought : Heidegger’s Remembrance and the Technological Margot Wielgus 60

Gelassenheit and Aether in Hebel and Hölderlin or: Love and the Life of Plants Babette Babich..... 72

Approaching the Desert: Uncanniness, Metaphoricity and Time in Hölderlin, Heidegger and Carson, Ammon Allred..... 90

Redescribing the Zuhanden-Vorhanden Relation, Lawrence J. Hatab 100

Can Dasein Be Indifferent? Andrew MacDonald..... 112

The Four Theses on Being: Reconstructing Div. III of Being and Time Rex Gilliland..... 126

Heidegger as a Nazi Bureaucrat: An Archival Report, Adam Knowles..... 140

Explaining Van Gogh’s Shoes: A Heideggerian Response to Schapiro, Justin White..... 156

Digital Art: The New Cultural Landscape, Róisín Lally 166

Thinking Nature Inceptually: From the Open Region to φύσις, and the Concept of Nature Christopher Merwin 180

Implications of Heidegger’s Thought for Postnatural Environmentalisms Magdalena Holy-Luczaj 190

Learning to Dwell Freely in the Technological Landscape: Heidegger and Burtynsky on Art and Environmental Ethics, Brendan Mahoney 202

Attention As The Way To Being, Lawrence A. Berger 219

Attention is Political: How Phenomenology Gives Access to the Inconspicuously Political Act of Attending, S. West Gurley 235