

HUMANITAS

Volume XXVIII, Nos. 1 & 2, 2015

Special Issue

A Symposium: Morality Reconsidered

Editors

Justin D. Garrison and Ryan R. Holston

At the annual meeting of the Academy of Philosophy and Letters in June 2014 Claes Ryn gave a speech that challenged a tendency in traditional Western moral speculation and argued for a moral and philosophical reform. The speech and the ensuing controversy gave the editors the idea of a symposium on the issues involved. They invited commentaries on Ryn's manuscript and asked him to respond to them.

Contents

How Desperate Should We Be? 5

Claes G. Ryn

Decision Procedures, Moral
Philosophy, and Despair:
The Response of Virtue
Ethics and the Connoisseur, 31

Kenneth B. McIntyre

David Hume and the Origins of Modern Rationalism, 44

Donald Livingston

Tradition, Principle,
and the Rule of Law:
A Response to Claes Ryn, 70

Bruce P. Frohnen

Political Morality Reconsidered:
A Rejoinder, 86

Claes G. Ryn