

CONTENTS

Negotiating Trade: Commercial Institutions and Cross-Cultural Exchange in the Medieval and Early Modern World An Introduction	1
Travis Bruce and Dana E. Stewart
Aspects of Trade in the Western Mediterranean during the Eleventh and Twelfth Centuries: Perspectives from Islamic Fatwās and State Correspondence	5
Russell Hopley
Hotel Tartary: Marco Polo, Yams , and the Biopolitics of Population	43
Wan-Chuan Kao
The Book’s Two Fathers: Marco Polo, Rustichello da Pisa, and Le Devisement du monde	69
F. Regina Psaki
Public Poems, Private Expenditures: Petrarch as Homo Economicus	99
William J. Kennedy
“On the Pavement, Thinking about the Government”: The Corpus Christi Cycle and the Emergence of Municipal Merchant Power in York	123
Meisha Lohmann
Inevitable Conflict or Opportunity to Explore? The Mechanics of Venice’s Embargo against Mehmed II and the Problem of Western-Ottoman Trade after 1453	155
Stefan Stantchev
“Inhospitable desert”: Inhabiting the Inn in Early Modern Spanish Theater	197
Noelia Cernigliaro
Prosecuting the Persecutor: Contracts, Sugar, Jews, and Inquisitors, 1580–1640	221
Cátia Antunes

- At the Mercy of the Harbor: Port Life, Prostitution, and Charitable Discipline in Seventeenth-Century Marseilles 239
Zuzana Stastna-Wilcox
- Negotiating Slavery in a Tolerant Frontier: Livorno's
Turkish Bagno (1547–1747) 275
Stephanie Nadalo
- To Inform and Delight: The Commodification of Travel
Images in Amsterdam 325
Elizabeth Sutton