

Table of Contents

Editors' Introduction . . . . .	3
Peg Birmingham and Lenard Lawlor
Plenary Sessions
Derrida and the "Aporia of the Community" . . . . .	5
Etienne Balibar
The Curious Empiricism of George Eliot's Literary Experiments . . . . .	19
Moirra Gatens
Linda Alcoff Scholar Session
Theorizing Identities: Reflections on Alcoff. . . . .	28
Ofelia Schutte
In Defense of Critical Epistemology: Reading Linda Alcoff's Real Knowing With and Against the Analytic/Continental Grain . . . . .	35
David Ingram
A Critique of Martín Alcoff's Identity Politics: On Power and Universality . . . . .	44
Tina Chanter
Three Responses . . . . .	59
Linda Martín Alcoff
Rodolphe Gasché Scholar Session
Bowing to Necessity in the Idiom of Rodolphe Gasché . . . . .	71
Peggy Kamuf
Anterior Relations: On the Work of Rodolphe Gasché . . . . .	77
John Sallis
Naked, Puny, and Wild: On the Idea of Form . . . . .	81
Dennis Schmidt
Of Limits of Philosophy That are No Longer Its Own: A Response . . . . .	88
Rodolphe Gasché
SPEP Prize Winners
When Nietzsche's Texts "Disappear under the Interpretation": Grasping Nietzsche's Embodied Philosophy . . . . .	98
Susan West
Phenomenology and Crisis: Tradition and Responsibility in Husserl and Heidegger . . . . .	108
Timo Miettinen
Beauvoir at 100
Finitude and Justice: Simone de Beauvoir's All Men Are Mortal . . . . .	116
Debra Bergoffen
Rereading Beauvoir on the Question of Feminist Subjectivity . . . . .	121
Emily Anne Parker
Nature and Anti-Nature in Simone de Beauvoir's Philosophy . . . . .	130
Shannon M. Mussett

The Work of Reiner Schürmann

The Voice of Singularity and a Philosophy to Come: Schürmann, Kant, and the Pathology Of Being . . . . .	138
Christopher P. Long

Breaking with Normativity: Reiner Schürmann’s Readings of Medieval Philosophy . . . . .	151
Richard A. Lee, Jr.

Thinking Onto-Theology and Finitude: Between the Early and Late Heidegger

The Metaphysics of Duns Scotus and Onto-Theology . . . . .	158
Michael Wittala

Apophatic Abuse: Misreading Heidegger’s Critique of Ontotheology . . . . .	164
Matthew Schunke

The Dionysian Finitude of the Question: Heidegger’s Enactment of Thinking in Time . . . . .	173
John M. Rose

The Phenomenological Motivation of the Later Heidegger . . . . .	182
Chad Engelland

Critical Encounters: Between Ethics and Politics

From Eumenides to Antigone :: Developing Hegel’s Notion of Recognition, Responding To Honneth. . . . .	190
María del Rosario Acosta López

The Course of Recognitive Phronesis : Ricoeur’s Response to the hyper-Moralization of Inequality. . . . .	201
Molly Harkirat Mann

Thinking About Ethics : Deleuze’s Not-So-Secret Link With Spinoza And Nietzsche . . . . .	207
Alan D. Schrift

Natural Time and Immemorial Nature . . . . .	214
Ted Toadvine

Betrayals of Vulnerability: Beyond Sovereign Responsibility . . . . .	222
William W. Young III

Experiences of Mortality: Phenomenology and Anthropology . . . . .	229
Alphonso Lingis

Materiality and Sensibility

The “Noble” and the “Hypocritical” Memory: Institution and Resistance in the Later Merleau-Ponty . . . .	233
Darian Meacham

Face And Flesh: Merleau-Ponty and Levinas Concerning Desire . . . . .	244
Felix Ó Murchadha

Laruelle for Levinas: Sensibility without Subject . . . . .	250
Rocco Gangle

Philosophy, Non-Philosophy, and the Axiomatization of Matter . . . . .	257
Michael J. Olson

A New Architecture of Power, an Anticipation of Ethics . . . . .	263
Richard A. Lynch	