

ProtoSociology

An International Journal of Interdisciplinary Research

Volume 39, 2022

Physicalism, or Something Near Enough
In Memory of Jaegwon Kim

Edited by Terence Horgan and Brian McLaughlin

CONTENTS

Introduction 5

PART I

REDUCTION AND THE MENTAL

A Critique of Kim's Case That Classical Metaphysical Emergence is Incoherent II
Brian P. McLaughlin

What's Wrong With Nonreductive Physicalism? The Exclusion
Problem Reconsidered 19
Kevin Morris

Overdetermination and Causal Closure: A Defense of the Causal
Argument for Physicalism 35
Alyssa Ney

Multiple Types Physicalism:
Infirmities of Non-reductive Physicalism 51
Gerhard Preyer and Erwin Rogler

PART II
NONREDUCTIVE PHYSICALISM?

Functional Reduction with a Third Step: a Larger and Less Reductive Picture	89
Ronald Endicott
The Prospects for Non-reductive Physicalism	107
Ausonio Marras
Property Identity and the Supervenience Argument	133
Joseph Mendola
Causal Exclusion and Grounding	148
David Pineda-Oliva

PART III
STATE OF THE ART

The Supervenient Causal Efficacy of Chromatically Illuminated Conscious Experience.....	169
David Henderson, Terry Horgan, Matjaž Potrč, and Vojko Strahovnik
Armchair Methods in Philosophy of Mind	204
Christopher S. Hill
Curriculum Vitae, Publications Jaegwon Kim (1934–2019)	221
Contributors	243
Picture: New York Metro, Gerhard Preyer	244
Imprint	245
Subscription – Single Article	246
eBooks and Books on Demand	246
Bookpublications of the Project	247