

R E N A S C E N C E

VOL. LXXIII, NO. 2

CONTENTS

Spring 2021

“New Knowledge of Lost Worlds”?: Edward Hitchcock’s
“Sandstone Bird” and the Poetic Exploration of Science and Faith. 81

Learning to Be a Failure: Tropes of Transformation in
James Wright’s The Branch Will Not Break 101

Confession Versus Collusion: Truth-Telling in
John le Carré’s Agent Running in the Field 117

Slender Self-Knowledge: Tragic Consequences and Redemptive Hope in Shakespeare’s King Lear and Austen’s Pride and Prejudice 127