

TAJS 19.1–4 (2003)

CONTENTS

Deborah Eicher-Catt

Issue Dedication, 1

Mary Catherine Bateson

Daddy, Can a Scientist Be Wise?, 3

Klaus Krippendorff

The Dialogic Reality of Meaning, 17

James A. Anderson and Janet W. Colvin

An Ecology of Communication: An Acknowledgement of Gregory Bateson, 35

Peter Harries-Jones

Consciousness, Embodiment, and Critique of Phenomenology in the Thought of Gregory Bateson, 69

Deborah Eicher-Catt

The Logic of the Sacred in Bateson and Peirce, 95

Corey Anton

Playing with Bateson:
Denotation, Logical Types, and Analog and Digital Communication, 127

Isaac E. Catt

Gregory Bateson's 'New Science' in the Context of Communicology, 153

Paul Ryan

Bateson, Peirce, and the Three Person Solution, 173

Marian Zielinski

A Semiotic Phenomenology of Aesthetic Systems:
Reflections on Ornament, Patterns, and Habits in Creative Expression, 197

Yair Neuman

The Logic of Meaning-in-context, 209

Alexander Kozin

The Sign of Love: Gregory Bateson and the Family Therapy Paradigm, 221

About the Authors, 243