
Contents

An Interview with Bernard Williams, 3

Why Some Modern Art is Junk, 19

Derek Matravers

Why should I bother going to the art gallery when I could be playing cricket instead?

Moral Dilemmas and Responsibility, 25

Gerry Wallace

On the usefulness or otherwise of a certain sort of example in moral philosophy

Colour Talk—what's it all about? 29

Miri Albahari

What do we actually mean when we argue about whether colours are subjective or objective?

Scientific Rationality versus Social Construction, 38

Geoffrey Bowker & Howard Sankey

Is science a more rational form of human activity than, say, witchcraft?

The Problem of Wagner, 45

Bob Sharpe & Brynmor Browne

Does Wagner's anti-Semitism infect his music?

Exercises in Non-Formal Logic, 53

Alec Fisher

Analysis of exercise 3 (Reichenbach), plus exercise 4 (Hume)

Narayana's Dream, 55

Roger Squires

Just whose dream is it anyway?

A Modern Cogito 5, 59

Christopher Ormell

Could our knowledge of the past be interpreted as predictive in nature?

Revolution, Lenin and the Party, 66

Alan Carter

Was Lenin just another petty bourgeois theorist?

Teaching Philosophy: some new tricks, 73

Adam Morton

A new look at the job of the lecturer

Not now, Socrates, Part II, 80

Karin Murrin

A critique of some of the central ideas of the Lipman programme

On Enterprise and Ease, 86

John O'Neill

On a moral dilemma from Star Trek

Gunddh 4, 88

Mary Haight

The trial of Alk Lenné Gunddh

Essay Review, 93

Michael Stanford

Searle's Rediscovery of the Mind

Book Reviews, 97

Editor's Booknotes, 99

Books Received during 1993, 101

Letters to the Editor, 102

The Party-Goers Guide to Philosophy: B, 103

Philosophy News, 104

Puzzles and Posers, 109

Crossword, 110