

ENVIRONMENTAL ETHICS

AN INTERDISCIPLINARY JOURNAL DEDICATED TO THE
PHILOSOPHICAL ASPECTS OF ENVIRONMENTAL PROBLEMS

SPRING 1979
Volume 1, Number 1

CONTENTS

From the Editor: How, When, Where, and Why	1
Memorial Notice: William T. Blackstone	2
News and Notes	4

FEATURES

Can and Ought We to Follow Nature?	Holmes Rolston, III	7
The Concept of the Irreplaceable	John N. Martin	31
The Rights of the Subhuman World	Charles Hartshorne	49

DISCUSSION PAPERS

New Wilderness Boundaries . . .	Philip M. Smith and Richard A. Watson	61
Some Ethical Decision Criteria with Regard to Procreation	Donald C. Lee	65
Elements of an Environmental Ethic: Moral Considerability and the Biotic Community	J. Baird Callicott	71

BOOK REVIEWS

Garrett Hardin: The Limits of Altruism	Daniel Lehoccky	83
Bruce Ackerman: Private Property and the Constitution . . .	Mark Sagoff	89

A Publication of Environmental Philosophy, Inc.
and
The University of Georgia