

THE HARVARD REVIEW OF PHILOSOPHY

Margaret Atherton investigates the nineteenth-century female philosopher Lady Mary Shepherd.
Page 73

Bas van Fraassen discusses science, stances, and empiricism.
Page 86

VOLUME XIII No. 2 | FALL 2005

PHENOMENOLOGY & PHILOSOPHY OF MIND

Closing the Gap: Phenomenology and Logical Analysis 4
By Sean Dorrance Kelly

FREGE

Frege on Numbers: Beyond the Platonist Picture 25
By Erich H. Reck

METAPHYSICS

Being Explained Away 41
By John P. Burgess

POLITICAL THEORY

Liberalism, Pluralism, and Political Justification 57
By Robert B. Talisse

HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY

Reading Lady Mary Shepherd 73
By Margaret Atherton

INTERVIEW

On Taking Stances 86
An interview with Bas van Fraassen

Credits: The print above, Octave Tassaert's Le Roman, is provided courtesy of the Bibliothèque nationale de France. The photograph of Bas van Fraassen above is provided by Chris Douglas. The photograph of van Fraassen on page 86 is provided by Richard Otte.