

Contents

Abbreviations

ix

I. FROM CREATION TO PROVIDENCE

| | |
|---|-----|
| 1. The aims of the book | 91 |
| 2. Aquinas's natural theology | 92 |
| 3. Book III in relation to Books I and II | 95 |
| 4. Aquinas's derivation of Book III's subject matter | 97 |
| 5. The directedness of things | 99 |
| 6. Aquinas's plan for Book III | 103 |

II. AGENTS, ACTIONS, AND ENDS

| | |
|--|-----|
| 1. Thoroughgoing teleology | 104 |
| 2. Ultimate ends | 108 |
| 3. Natural agents, likeness, and efficient causation | 112 |
| 4. Shortcomings as evidence of teleology | 117 |
| 5. Determinate ends as necessary conditions of action | 118 |
| 6. Some apparent exceptions | 119 |
| 7. Every agent's end is good | 121 |

III. BADNESS

| | |
|--|-----|
| 1. The badness thesis | 126 |
| 2. Clarifying the thesis | 129 |
| 3. The most fundamental application of the thesis | 131 |
| 4. Challenging the thesis | 134 |
| 5. Elucidating the thesis | 136 |
| 6. Defending and refining the thesis | 139 |
| 7. What badness could not be | 143 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| 8. How goodness is the cause of badness in nature | 147 |
| 9. How goodness is the cause of badness in morality | 149 |
| 10. A difficulty in the etiology of moral badness | 152 |
| 11. The rest of the treatise on badness | 155 |

IV. GOD AS NATURE'S GOAL

| | |
|---|-----|
| 1. Reorientation | 156 |
| 2. Reintroducing God | 157 |
| 3. How God is the absolutely ultimate, universal, unique end | 161 |
| 4. How created things are assimilated to the divine goodness | 164 |
| 5. How created things are assimilated to God through causality | 168 |
| 6. How different sorts of things are differently directed toward their end | 171 |
| 7. Glancing skyward | 177 |
| 8. How even nonintellective things can acquire a divine likeness | 179 |
| References | 185 |
| Notes | 191 |