

PHILOSOPHY & THEOLOGY
VOLUME 17 NUMBERS 1 AND 2 (2005)

David Grumett 3–16

The Enlightenment of the Magi: Faith and Reason in Matthew 2:1–12

Adam Kotsko 17–31

Objective Spirit and Continuity in the Theology of Dietrich Bonhoeffer

Victoria S. Harrison 33–50

*The Metamorphosis of “The End of the World”:
From Theology to Philosophy and Back Again*

Jeffrey E. Green 51–84

*Two Meanings of Disenchantment:
Sociological Condition vs. Philosophical Act—
Reassessing Max Weber’s Thesis of the Disenchantment of the World*

Oliver Putz 85–105

Evolutionary Biology in the Theology of Karl Rahner

Jill Graper Hernandez 107–120

Divine Omniscience and Human Evil: Interpreting Leibniz without Middle Knowledge

Michael W. Austin 121–132

Moral Difficulties in Plantinga’s Model of Warranted Christian Belief

Avron Kulak 133–155

Kierkegaard, Derrida, and the Context of Context(s)

Brayton Polka 157–175

*Who is the Single Individual?
On the Religious and the Secular in Kierkegaard*

Andrew Tallon 177–228

The Criterion of Love and the Accusing Heart in 1 John

James B. South 229–231

Editor's Page

RAHNER SOCIETY PAPERS

Richard Lennan 233–258

Faith in Context: Rahner on the Possibility of Belief

Terrence W. Tilley 259–277

What Kind of Faith is Possible in Our Contexts?

Or "Don't Talk of Love. Show Me. Show Me. . . . Show Me Now."

Responses Reflecting on Richard Lennan,

"Faith in Context: Rahner on the Possibility of Belief"

Nancy A. Dallavalle 279–291

Cosmos and Ecclesia: A Response to Richard Lennan

Leo J. O'Donovan, S.J. 293–302

Memories Before the Mystery: In Tribute to Karl Rahner (1904–1984)

Ann R. Riggs 303–306

Rahner Papers Editor's Page