

Table of Contents

Preface	ix
I. Coersion, Fanaticism, and Violence
1. Enthusiasm and Fanaticism John Passmore	1
2. Ideals of the Enlightenment For Today Mourad Wahba	13
3. Justified Coercion Timo Airaksinen	21
4. On Consequentialism and Deontology: Comments on "Justified Coercion" James P. Sterba	41
5. Freedom, Equality, and Violence: Revolutions and the Moral Point Shyli Karin-Frank	47
II. The Enduring Lessons of the French Revolution
6. Descartes, The Concept of Woman and the French Revolution Sr. Prudence Allen	61
7. The French Revolution & American Radical Democracy John P. Clark	79
8. The Idea of Popular Sovereignty Two Hundred Years After Bastille Randall R. Curren	119
9. Hegel's Crypto-Kantian View of the French Revolution Bernard D. Freyberg	139
10. Thomas Paine: The Ideological Fruits of Revolution Yeager Hudson	157
11. Paine's Revolutionary Common Sense Louise Marcil-Lacoste	171
12. Conceptualization and Community: The Case of the French Revolution Thomas Platt	195

13.	Marx and Sartre on Violence in the French Revolution Joseph L. Walsh	205
14.	On the Rationality of Revolutions: A Radical Individualist Inquiry Jan Narveson	223
III. Morality, Liberty, and Equality
15.	Radical Democracy and the Right to Work Jay Drykyk	253
16.	An Egalitarian Approach to Health Care Mary B. Mahowald	265
17.	Fraternity, Integrity, and How a Constitution Can Deny Itself Christopher B. Gray	283
18.	Moral Judgments and Unconscious Prejudice Iris Marion Young	297
IV. Social Theory and the Justification of Social Order
19.	Freedom and Methodologies: Controversies About the Social Sciences and the Sociology of Science Peter P. Kirschenmann	311
20.	The Struggle for Religious Liberty: An American Expression Creighton Peden	333
21.	Prospecting Across the Ideological Divide William L. Reese	349
22.	On the Basis of Social Philosophy C. L. Sheng	381
23.	Hobbes on Property and Revolution Mathew Silliman	399
24.	Liberalism, Conservatism and Spontaneous Social Orders Gary R. Weaver	411
V.	Critical Reviews	425