

Thought

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY QUARTERLY

The Fate of Orwell's Warning	R. Bruce Douglass	263
John Le Carre's Smiley Saga	Charles A. Brady	275
Comparative Social Philosophies: Individualism, Socialism, Solidarism	Franz H. Mueller	297
A Commensensical Protest Against Deconstruction, or, How the Real World at last Became a Fable	Caroline D. Eckhard	310
The Tension Between Intellectual and Moral Education in the Thought of John Henry Newman	Mary Katherine Tillman	322
The Affinities of Literature	John D. Boyd, S.J.	335
The Role of Economics and Ethical Principles in Determining U.S. Policies toward Poor Nations	John J. Piderit, S.J.	353

THOUGHT, Fordham University Quarterly, published in March, June, September, and December, by Fordham University Press. Editorial, advertising, publication, and subscription offices: Fordham University Press, Bronx, New York 10458. September 1985, Vol. LX, No. 238.

Single copy, $5.00; yearly, $15.00 (individuals), $20.00 (institutions); foreign, add $2.50 for postage. Second class postage paid at Bronx, NY and at office of additional entry at Lancaster, PA. THOUGHT, Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. © Copyright by Fordham University, 1985.