

Business Ethics

THE MAGAZINE OF SOCIALLY RESPONSIBLE BUSINESS

MARCH/APRIL 1996

VOL. 10, NO. 2

COVER

20 5 Ways Ethical Business Creates Fatter Profits

A guide to gaining infallible customer loyalty, a more productive work force, and juicier profit margins

OPINION

6 Letters

You call that a performance chart? Capitalism fuels greed . . .

8 Commentary

Albert Gani: He deserved to be fired.
Mary Scott: A double take on China.

9 Musings: Marjorie Kelly

"The real purpose of capitalism" as stated by our readers.

54 Oxymoron: Susan Corso

Who wants to care for society? "Social" responsibility isn't the point.

NEWS, TRENDS & FEATURES

4 Front Lines

- ▶ Body Shop's 'Report': onerous fluff.
- ▶ Marketing that's to die for.
- ▶ 97,000 jobs lost. But don't worry.

10 Trend Watch

- ▶ Here comes another set of principles.
- ▶ Does diversity really pay?
- ▶ Kiss investor lawsuits goodbye.
- ▶ Cybercops hit the Net.
- ▶ Recyclables get an exchange listing.

16 Finding the Perfect Job

Six steps to take, examples of people who have found dream jobs, and more!

26 Who Are These Ethics 'Experts' Anyway?

An in-depth look at just who it is corporate America turns to for advice on values and responsibility.

33 Unexpected Payback

Firefighters couldn't save World Eye Bookstore. But the community could.

34 Interview: Amory Lovins

The brilliant "eco-capitalist" has gained respect and attention from several major firms. What next?

INVESTING

37 1996's Hottest Proxy Fights

'Tis the season for shareholder resolutions. Number one is tobacco.

40 Fund Watch

Parnassus Fund hit the skids in the second half of 1995. Jerome Dodson on how he hopes to do better in '96.

Plus the latest performance figures on 35 socially screened mutual funds.

42 Street Signs

What do Whole Foods and Ben & Jerry's have in common?

44 Blue Chip Review

Layoffs are great for shareholders, right? Not so and here's why.

45 Marked to Market

How to avoid trouble while investing based on your social values.

MANAGEMENT

47 Books:

Reviews of Financing Change, Instructions to the Cook, The Last Stand, How to Tell When You're Tired, and State of the World 1996.

50 Working Ideas:

When in Japan, don't cross your legs; strategic giving; off-site elder care . . .

52 What Would You Do?

Closing the plant looks right but feels wrong. What to recommend?

John Swanson
former Communications
Director, Dow
Corning

Why did Dow Corning handle the breast implant situation so poorly when it had in its employ the role model of ethics officers, John Swanson? P. 26

Mark Eisen
Director of Environmental Marketing,
Home Depot

"Don't expect a perfect job to be waiting for you. Create one, then pitch the company on why it would add value." P. 16

"Thumbs up" is rude in Australia but a sign of "OK" in France. International etiquette P. 50