

CONTENTS

Judaism — Christianity — Marxism: Dialogue and Universalism (Editorial)	5
--	---

I

Jakub Goldberg — Friends and Strangers (An Outline of the History of Polish-Jewish Relations in the Polish Commonwealth)	13
Zdzisław Libera — Some Comments on J. Goldberg's Paper	33
Henryk Samsonowicz — The Jewish Population in Poland during the Middle Ages	35
Jerzy R. Nowak — Poles and Jews: The Forgotten Tradition of Cooperation	43
Jerzy Turowicz — Polish Reasons and Jewish Reasons	75

II

Antonina Kłoskowska — Values — against the Holocaust	83
Ruta Sakowska — Warsaw Ghetto: Reflections on Attitudes	97
Kazimierz Kąkol — The Fight and Martyrdom of Polish Jews: The Myths and the Truth	111
Zdzisław Libera — A Comment on Czesław Miłosz's Campo di Fiori	128
Zygmunt Nissenbaum — I Was in the Umschlagplatz	129

III

Henryk Rosen — The Concept of Alienation in Janusz Korczak's Works	135
Barbara Markiewicz — God and Nation: Franz Rosenzweig's Concept of Messianism vs. Polish Messianism	149
Iwona Lorenc — Philosophical Premises of Levinas' Conception of Judaism	157
Krystyna Górniak-Kocikowska — Martin Buber — a Jew from Galicia	171
John R. Thomas — Reflections and Reservations Concerning Martin Buber's Dialogical Philosophy in Its Religious Dimension	183

IV

Zygmunt Broniarek — Language, Eroticism, and Polish-Jewish Relations in Jerzy Kosinski's The Hermit of 69th Street	191
Tomasz Gąsowski — Polin : A Journal of Dialogue	199
Radosław Piszczek — The Nissenbaum Foundation. Saving the Traces of a Culture	203

Shlomo Avineri — Moral Ideals and Social Values: The Dialectics of Legitimation	209
Janusz Kuczyński — Pluralism and Universalist Socialism	215

*

About the Authors	223
-----------------------------	-----