

Contents

Editorial Preface vii

Introduction ix

Part I. Theory.

1. Normal and Mad. WILLIAM F. KRAFT 7
2. Emergence and Amelisis: A Brief Sketch for an Underlying Model of 'Psycho'-pathology. EDWARD CALLANAN 15
3. Phenomenological Psychotherapy: A Why and a How. DAVID L. SMITH 32
4. The Inevitability of Phenomenology. HANS LINSCHOTEN
(Translated by Aaron L. Mishara) 49
5. Phenomenology and Psychological Theory. AMEDEO GIORGI 60
6. The Relationships among Level, Type, and Structure and Their Importance for Social Science Theorizing:
A Dialogue with Schütz. AMEDEO GIORGI 81

Part II. Articles with Data Based on Descriptions from the Lifeworld.

7. Lived Aspects of Natural Scientific Method. LOUIS A. PERROTT 97
8. A Contribution to the Phenomenology of Lived-Space in Early Childhood. ELLEN G. BENSWANGER 111
9. The Qualitative Method of Research in the Phenomenology of Suspicion. A.J.J. DE KONING 122
10. Empirical Phenomenological Analyses of Being Criminally Victimized. CONSTANCE T. FISCHER and FREDERICK J. WERTZ 135
11. Alterations in the Reality Character of Perception and the Concept of Sensation. PAUL RICHER 159

Part III. Hermeneutical-Phenomenological Psychology.

12.	Some Implications of Ricoeur's Conception of Hermeneutics for Phenomenological Psychology.	PETER TITELMAN	182
13.	Eugene O'Neill's Understanding of Forgiveness.	STEEN HALLING	193
14.	Dionysos and the World of Passion.	BERND JAGER	209
15.	The Eco-Psychology of Personal Culture Building: An Existential-Hermeneutic Approach.	ROLF VON ECKARTSBERG	227
16.	Phenomenological Psychological Reflections on the Mission of Art.	TÓMAS PROINSÍAS O'CLUÁINAIN	245
	About the Authors		278