

Contents

Introduction	vii
Part I: Clinical and Therapeutic Contributions	1
1. Psychotherapy Research and Existential-Phenomenological Psychology: An Exploration. DREYER KRUGER	8
2. Phenomenology and “The Talking Cure”: Research on Psychotherapy. ROBERT FESSLER	33
3. Remembering and Psychotherapy. JOSEPH LYONS	47
4. Outline for a Dialogal Perspective in Phenomenological Psychoanalysis. ROBERT J. MASEK	71
5. The Psychoanalytic and the Commonplace Experience of Silence: Some Phenomenological Considerations. CHARLES MAES	83
6. Phenomenological and Traditional Views of Trust Between Clients and Therapists. CAROLYN GRATTON	90
7. Existential Dimensions of Paradoxical Strategies in Psychotherapy and Counseling. JACK T. F. LING	105
8. Seeing a Significant Other “As if for the First Time.” STEEN HALLING	122
9. Toward a Phenomenology of Self-Esteem CHRISTOPHER J. MRUK	137
Part II: Hermeneutics and Phenomenological Psychology	151
10. Theorizing and the Elaboration of Place: Inquiry into Galileo and Freud. BERND JAGER	153
11. Be-ing . . . Think-ing . . . Thank-ing. Reflections on Technology in the Spirit of Martin Heidegger. EDWARD L. MURRAY	181
12. Existential-Phenomenology, Validity and the Trans-Personal Ground of Psychological Theorizing. ROLF VON ECKARTSBERG	199

Part III: Systematic Psychology	207
13. The Importance of the Phenomenological Attitude for Access to the Psychological Realm. AMEDEO P. GIORGI	209
14. Revolution in Psychology: A Case Study of the New Look School of Perception. FREDERICK J. WERTZ	222
15. A Phenomenological Study of Thinking. CHRISTOPHER M. AANSTOOS	244
Part IV: History of the Graduate Psychology Program	257
16. The History of the Graduate Program via Existential-Phenomenological Psychology at Duquesne University DAVID L. SMITH	259
About the Contributors	333