

Études maritainiennes - Maritain Studies

Vol. XVII, 2001

sommaire - contents

Maritain, Art, and Knowledge Maritain, l'art, et la connaissance

The World as a Work of Art

Leslie Armour 3

Maritain, Northrop Frye, and the Limits of Poetic Knowledge

Elizabeth Trott 30

On Hearing and Understanding Music

Gabor Csepregi 38

Gilson, Maritain and Garrigou-Lagrange on the Possibility of Critical Realism

Jason West 49

Hegel and Maritain on Philosophy of Art: Incompatibility or Complementarity?

Stephen Rucker 70

Exploring the New Classicism: Reflections on Stravinsky and Maritain c.1920-1940

R. Mathias 79

The Eclipse of the Person in Postmodern Iconography

Walter James Schultz 87

Textes hors thème / Studies

Wounds of the Intelligence

James G. Hanink 103

Artificial Intelligence, Thomistic Angelology and Intuitivity: a proposal for a new appreciation of Maritain's intuition of being

Jude Chua Soo Meng 112

Comptes rendus - Book Reviews

The common things : essays on Thomism and education. Ed. by Daniel McInerny; with an introduction by Benedict M. Ashley. Washington, DC :
American Maritain Association, 1999.

Steven Baldner 125

Natural Law: reflections on theory and practice by Jacques Maritain. Ed. with introductions and notes, by William Sweet, South Bend, IN: St Augustine's Press [distributed by University of Chicago Press], 2001.

Mathew Anderson 128

Freedom, virtue, and the common good. Ed. by Curtis L. Hancock & Anthony O. Simon; with epilogue by Michael Novak. Mishawaka, IN: American Maritain Association; Notre Dame, IN: Distributed by University of Notre Dame Press, 1995.

Louis Groarke 130

Intuition and Reality: A Study of the Attributes of Substance in the Absolute Idealism of Spinoza. By James Thomas (Preface by Leslie Armour), Aldershot, UK: Ashgate Publishing, 1999.

Philip Ferreira 132

Critique and Totality. By Pierre Kerszberg, Albany, NY: State University of New York Press, 1997.

Richard Feist 136

Freedom in the modern world : Jacques Maritain, Yves R. Simon, Mortimer J. Adler. Ed. by Michael D. Torre. Mishawaka, IN: American Maritain Association; Notre Dame, IN: Distributed by University of Notre Dame Press, 1989.

Charles LePage 138

Books Received and Announcements 143