

MIDWEST STUDIES IN PHILOSOPHY

Volume XLII

Moral Responsibility and the Financial Crisis

Introduction	James Dempsey and Tom Sorell	7
Responsibility in the Financial Crisis	Tom Sorell	20
Some Tranching of Moral Responsibility Ascriptions to Individuals in Shadow Banking during the Financial Crisis	Peter A. French	37
Collective Responsibility and the Purposes of Banks.	Steven Scalet	54
Banking Culture and Moral Responsibility for the Financial Crisis	James Dempsey	73
The Moral Accountability of the Financial Industry for the Global Financial Crisis.	David Silver	95
Moral Culture and the Financial Crisis in Light of the Icelandic Experience.	Vilhjálmur Árnason and Salvör Nordal	117
Who's Responsible? (It's Complicated.) Assigning Blame in the Wake of the Financial Crisis	Kendy M. Hess	133
Risky Pay and the Financial Crisis: Who's Responsible? . . .	Jeffrey Moriarty	156
Mind the Gap: Virtue Ethics and the Financial Crisis. . . .	Catherine Greene	174
Moral Responsibility for Large-Scale Events: The Difference between Climate Change and Economic Crises	Boudewijn de Bruin	191
Blaming Ourselves.	Mark Hannam	213
Mistakes Were Made: The Role of Catalactic Bias in the Financial Crisis	Joseph Heath	229
The Corruption of Financial Benchmarks: Individual and Collective Responsibility in the Global Banking Sector.	Seumas Miller	248
Democracy and the European Central Bank's Emergency Powers.	Jens van 't Klooster	270
The Ethics of Consumer Credit: Balancing Wrongful Inclusion and Wrongful Exclusion.	Marco Meyer	294
Erratum		314