

■ Table of Contents

---

Martin Heidegger and Rudolf Carnap: Radical Phenomenology, Logical Positivism, and the Roots of the Continental/Analytic Divide . . . . .	241
James Luchte
Representation and Poiesis : The Imagination in the Later Heidegger . . . . .	261
John W. M. Krummel
Heidegger's Etymological Method: Discovering Being by Recovering the Richness of the Word . . . . .	278
Matthew King
Thoughts in Potentiality: Provisional Reflections on Agamben's Understanding of Potentiality and Its Relevance for Theology and Politics . . . . .	290
Alberto Bertozzi
A Critique of Simone de Beauvoir's Existential Ethics . . . . .	303
Matthew Braddock
Two Notions of Objectification. . . . .	312
Iddo Landau
Committed Perception: Merleau-Ponty, Carroll, and Iranian Cinema. . . . .	320
Farhang Erfani
On Giving Hegel His Due: The "End of History" and the Hegelian Roots of Postmodern Thought . . . . .	330
Jere O'Neill Surber
Innocence, Perversion, and Abu Ghraib. . . . .	343
Kelly Oliver
Ours Is Not a Terrible Situation. . . . .	357
Alain Badiou and Simon Critchley
New Books Received . . . . .	366

---