

THE MODERN SCHOOLMAN

---

JANUARY & MARCH 2007

Seventh Henle Conference: Interpersonal Perspectives and Knowledge

Special Editor's Introduction to Interpersonal Perspectives and Knowledge . . . . .	99
Michael D. Barber
Kantian Lessons about Mind, Meaning, and Rationality . . . . .	109
Robert B. Brandom
Phenomenology and the First-Person Character of Philosophical Knowledge . . . . .	131
Steven Crowell
Comments on Steven Crowell's "Phenomenology and the First-Person Character of Philosophical Knowledge" . . . . .	149
Thomas Nenon
First-Person Externalism . . . . .	155
Lynne Rudder Baker
Social Externalism and Solipsism: Remarks on Lynne Rudder Baker's "First-Person Externalism" . . . . .	171
Bernard Reginster
A View from Somewhere: Wittgenstein, Nagel, and Idealism . . . . .	185
Edward Minar
Who are 'We'? Dissolving the Problem of Cultural Boundaries . . . . .	205
Mark Risjord
Après Vous : Theory and Asymmetry . . . . .	217
Robert Gibbs

Response to Robert Gibbs' "Après Vous: Theory and Asymmetry" . . . . .	235
Steven Hendley
Radical Reflection: Brandom and McDowell on Perception . . . . .	245
Michael D. Barber
Perceptual Intentionality and Brandom's Pragmatics:
Comments on Michael D. Barber . . . . .	267
William Rehg

© Copyright 2007 by The Modern Schoolman
 William C. Charron
 Printed in St. Louis, Missouri