

THE MODERN SCHOOLMAN

MAY 1997

| | |
|---|-----|
| Introduction | 255 |
| William Rehg, S.J. | |
| The Epistemic Dimension of Democratic Authority | 259 |
| David Estlund | |
| Looking for the Best and Finding None Better: The Epistemic Case for Democracy | 277 |
| Gerald F. Gaus | |
| Democratic Intentions | 285 |
| Henry S. Richardson | |
| Richardson on Deliberative Democracy | 301 |
| Thomas Christiano | |
| How Can the People Ever Make the Law? (A Critique of Deliberative Democracy) | 311 |
| Frank I. Michelman | |
| Deliberative Democracy and the Regress Problem: Response to Michelman | 331 |
| Kenneth Baynes | |
| Alain Locke: Community and Citizenship | 337 |
| Leonard Harris | |
| Deliberative Democracy and Community in Alain Locke | 347 |
| Paul J. Weithman | |

| | |
|--|-----|
| Legitimacy and Deliberation in Epistemic Conceptions of Democracy: Between Habermas and Estlund | 355 |
| William Rehg, S.J. | |

© Copyright 1997 by The Modern Schoolman
William C. Charron
Printed in St. Louis, Missouri