

Contents

Acknowledgements		ix
Introduction	Donn Welton	xi
I. For a Transcendental Semiotics
1. Linguistic Meaning and Intentionality		2
	Karl-Otto Apel
II. Hermeneutics and Critical Theory
2. From Hermeneutics and Critical Theory to Communicative Action and Post-Structuralism		54
	David M. Rasmussen
3. Hermeneutics and Critical Theory		64
	George Schrader
4. Enlightenment as Political		76
	Dick Howard
III. Phenomenology and Dialectics
5. Phenomenology and the Problem of Action		90
	Jacques Taminiaux
6. Hegel and Husserl: Transcendental Phenomenology and the Revolution Yet Awaited		103
	Merold Westphal

7. From Immediacy to Mediation: The Emergence of Dialectical Phenomenology	136
James L. Marsh
IV. Knowledge and Critique
8. Heidegger and Peirce: Toward New Epistemic Foundations	152
Patrick L. Bourgeois and Sandra B. Rosenthal
9. Shifting Paradigms: Sartre on Critique, Language and the Role of the Intellectual	166
Thomas Busch
10. Merleau-Ponty and the Problem of Knowledge	176
Henry Pietersma
V. Hermeneutics of Persons and Places
11. Place: A Certain Absence	204
Joseph C. Flay
12. I and Mine	216
Bernard P. Dauenhauer
13. Individuation, Mimetic Engulfment and Self-Deception	230
Bruce Wilshire
VI. Critique of Cognitive Psychology
14. Information Processing and the Phenomenology of Thinking	250
Christopher A. Aanstoos
15. Merleau-Ponty and the Cognitive Psychology of Perception	265
Frederick J. Wertz
16. The Structure of Consciousness of the Child: Merleau-Ponty and Piaget	285
Richard Rojcewicz

Contributors	297
Index of Proper Names	299