

Techné:
Research in Philosophy and Technology
Volume 25, Issue 1 (2021)

Articles

Is There a Digital World? Video Games as a Framework for Analyzing the Relations between Software and Lived Experience Luca M. Possati .....	1
The Darwin Is in the Details: The Evolution of Electronics Michael Gurvitch .....	26
What Is Innovation? Laying the Ground for a Philosophy of Innovation Vincent Blok .....	72
Cultures of Number: Connections across Literature, Design, and Technology Thomas Lee .....	97
Urban Infrastructure and the Problem of Moral Praise Shane Epting .....	112
The Sacrality of Things: On the Technological Augmentation of the Sacred Levi Checketts .....	130

Special Section on Technology & Pandemic

The Zoom-bie Student and the Lecturer Galit Wellner .....	153
Big Brother Goes to School Ryan Jenkins, Zachary I. Rentz, and Keith Abney .....	162

Book Reviews

A Competent Guide to the Ethics of Humans and Robots Review of Humans and Robots: Ethics, Agency, and Anthropomorphism , by Sven Nyholm Simon N. Balle .....	184
Representation's Essence Review of Thinking Like a Computer , by George Towner Sasha Niehorster-Cook .....	191