

Techné:
Research in Philosophy and Technology
Volume 15, Issue 3 (2011)

Special Issue:
Phenomenology and Classroom Computer Simulation

Articles

Introduction Robert Rosenberger	182
Dissection and Simulation: Brilliance and Transparency, or Encumbrance and Disruption? Norm Friesen	185
Response to Norm Friesen Albert Borgmann	201
Dissection and Simulation: A Postphenomenological Critique Don Ihde	203
Comment on Norm Friesen's: "Dissection and Simulation: Brilliance and Transparency, or Encumbrance and Disruption?" Estrid Sørensen	206
Gut Feelings: A Response to Norm Friesen's "Dissection and Simulation" Darin Barney	209
A Phenomenological Defense of Computer-Simulated Frog Dissection Robert Rosenberger	215

Less is More:

A Response to Ihde, Rosenberger, Borgmann, Barney and Sørensen

Norm Friesen 229

Book Reviews

Trade Barriers to the Public Good:

Free Trade and Environmental Protection

Edmund F. Byrne 235

facebook and Philosophy: What's on your mind?

Charles Ess 238

Homo Sapiens Technologicus

Michel Puech 241

Philosophy of Science: 5 Questions

Robert Rosenberger 243