

❖	From the exaltation of the human person to the “new democracy”
	Fr. Julio Meinvielle, Ph.D., S.T.D.	3
	I. The fundamental aspiration of the human person to democracy, and the doctrine of Saint Thomas	8
	1. In the measure that the human person progresses, they aspire to a monarchy, and not to democracy	11
	2. The aspiration to democracy as such, that is, in its pure state, implies a regression of the human person.	17
	II. Maritain’s democracy when faced with the doctrine of the Church and of Saint Thomas . . .	21
	1. Who makes up the Maritainian democracy . .	24
	2. Who governs the Maritainian city?	27
	3. What end is proposed for the citizens when being grouped together in the Maritainian democracy	36
	4. The form of unity of the Maritainian democracy	38
❖	The Weaknesses of Critical Realism: On Lonergan’s Cognition Theory
	Fr. Andres Ayala, IVE, Ph.D.	61
	Preface	63
	Introduction	64
	I. The Notion of Experience	68
	1. Overview: The Problem	68
	2. Lonergan’s Doctrine of Experience	69
	3. Possible Reasons to Assume this Theory of Experience	72
	4. Weakness of this Theory of Experience	76
	II. The Nature of Knowledge: Question and Inquiry .	77
	III. The Principle of Immanence	83
	1. Weakness of the principle of immanence . . .	85

2. Being and Knowing: Comparing the Notions .	86
3. Human Knowledge: Communion, not Identity	87
4. Immanence or Alterity?	90
5. The Nature of the Cognitional Species	91
6. Intentional Attribution	93
IV. The Notion of Relation	95
1. The Priority of Relation	96
2. The Relation to the Subject	97
3. Context and Interpretation	99
V. Judgment as the Position of the Real	100
Conclusion	104
❖ Existential Analysis of Daily Life in Times of Pandemic
Fr. Alberto Barattero, IVE, Ph.D.	111
❖ The Lack of a Thomistic Foundation in Individual-Person Distinction of Jacques Maritain
Fr. Theodore Trinko, IVE	137
Reasons to Question Maritain	140
The Centrality of the Distinction	143
The Distinction Itself	147
The Centrality of St. Thomas Aquinas	151
The Thomistic Position	153
Conclusion	158
❖ Morality and Law in the Thought of Cornelio Fabro
Fr. Gianluca Trombini, IVE	161
Freedom and Morality in the Thought of Cornelio Fabro	165
Destructio Ethicae as a Consequence of the Destructio
Metaphysicae	168
Intrinsic Aporetic Nature of an Ethic Without God .	172
The Greatness and the Limits of Natural Morality . .	182
The Permanent Value of Morality	184
Moral Qualification and Existential Constitution of the Person in the Thought of Cornelio Fabro .	187

❖ Don Giuseppe de Luca

Fr. Cornelio Fabro, CSS, Ph.D., S.T.D.

195

Book Reviews

— Alva Noë; Strange Tools: Art and Human Nature	207
— Alva Noë; Varieties of Presence	210
— John M. Meinert; The Love of God Poured Out: Grace and the Gifts of the Holy Spirit in St. Thomas Aquinas . . .	213
— William Desmond; The Voiding of Being: The Doing and Undoing of Metaphysics in Modernity	216