

CONTENTS

PAUL MAJKUT
Introduction . . . . .	6
MONIKA BAKKE
Transparent Body . . . . .	31
SUSANA RAQUEL BARBOSA
History and Deception from Machiavelli to Nietzsche . . . . .	38
CARLOS A. BASCH
Identity / Deception . . . . .	50
TOBIAS BORUP
“The Arrival of a Train” and a New Aesthetic Principle . . . . .	56
MELANIE BOURDAA
Deception and Reality Shows . . . . .	61
ALBERTO J. L. CARRILLO CANÁN
Media and Deception . . . . .	71
KURT CLINE
Magic and Legerdemain: The Wonder Worker behind the Charlatan’s Mask . . . . .	80
OSCAR CONDE
Deception out of Love in Tango Lyrics . . . . .	91
TRACY POWELL DALKE
Deception in the Air: Rational Cognitive Survival . . . . .	101
KATHRYN S. EGAN
The Soul Factor: Deception in Intimations of Life in Computer-Generated Characters . . . . .	111
ESTEBAN GARCIA
The Tool as an Extension of the Body: Technological Illusion . . . . .	121
MARIA GOLASZEWSKA
The Problem of Truth and Falsehood in the Anthroposphere . . . . .	134
JULIA V. IRIBARNE
On Deception: A Phenomenological Approach . . . . .	141

MATTI ITKONEN The Eidos-Ego in its Transparent Globe: The Impossibility of Consecutive Module Thinking in the Philosophy of Education . . . . .	156
JUSSI KOTKAVIRTA But Is It Real? On Self-Deception and Derealization . . . . .	163
PAUL MAJKUT The Selflessness of Transcendental Deception. . . . .	175
CHRISTOPHER MOFFETT Sleight of Philosophy: Moving Between Wonder and Paranoia in Teaching and Learning . . . . .	199
MICHAELA OTT Deception as a Way of Becoming a Political Agent. . . . .	218
CATHERINE PASCAL Disappointment and Virtuality: From Cyberspace to the Human Body: Imagination or Deception? . . . . .	225
MARIA CRISTINA REIGADAS Deception as a Cultural Style: Some Reflections on Argentine Beliefs . . . . .	234
VICTOR GERALD RIVAS From Deception to Enlightenment: A Reflection on the Baroque Conception of Individual Life . . . . .	250
DENNIS SKOCZ Deception, Self-deception and the Play of Illusion . . . . .	262
CHRISTINA SMERICK Deception in the Classroom: Its Power, Locus, and Heuristic Intent . . . . .	273
KRYSTYNA WILKOSZEWSKA On the Phenomenon of "Deception": The Example of Odysseus. . . . .	283
PIOTR WINSKOWSKI Self-explanation of Deception in Temporal, Spatial Experience . . . . .	292
RAÚL A. YAFAR Emptiness and Sense of the Name. . . . .	308