Sydney Architecture walking tour: Art, Place and Landscape

This guided walking tour examines the city through its evolving attitude to the design of its public domain, and the elements that they contain; art, architecture and landscape. For the Eora people, the trees were an embracing home. For Europeans these same trees were full of mystery, shadows and darkness. Starting in the modern forest of concrete, skyscrapers and hard paved surfaces at Edge of Trees by Janet Laurence and Fiona Foley, we walk outwards to the green harbour wedge, through the Domain to the water's edge of Woolloomooloo Bay. The translucent Veil of Trees by Janet Laurence and Jisuk Han is the bookend.

We will map a living history on contemporary architectural, sculptural and urban projects, considering the role of art, architecture and design in the creation of some of Sydney's best loved and most used public spaces. Particular attention will be paid to projects by Lin Utzon, Brett Whiteley, Janet Laurence, Hossein Valamanesh, Lippmann Associates, Simeon Nelson, City Projects, Tonkin Zulaikha Greer, Harry Seidler, Tom Bass & Hassell Architects. We will also look at the new Art Gallery of NSW Asian Galleries extension by Johnson Pilton Walker.

Sydney Coastal walk

A superb coastal walk around South Head, the gateway to Sydney Harbour. Starting with an iconic ferry ride to Watsons Bay, discover stunning views of the city, ocean and surrounding headlands from vantage points only accessible on foot. Rich in early settler and forgotten military history, this short Watsons Bay walk is the easiest way to escape the city and yet still enjoy city and harbour vistas. Highlights include:

- Stroll along Sydney's famous Watsons Bay
- Experience Camp Cove where the Birrabirragal mob met the First Fleet
- Enjoy harbour and ocean views
- Look down into "The Gap" from towering sandstone cliffs
- Discover Sydney's wartime history
- See two of Australia's first lighthouses
- Spot whales during migration season – (which June is!)

Inclusions are:

- Expert guide with interpretation of flora, fauna and history
- Round-trip ferry
- National Park fees
